

Consumer Bill of Rights Essay Contest

Sponsored by the South Carolina Department of Consumer Affairs

What is it?

This year, the theme of the South Carolina Department of Consumer Affairs essay competition is What the Consumer Bill of Rights Mean to Me. This continues our effort to encourage schools, community organizations, businesses, the media, and consumers to focus public awareness on consumer rights and responsibilities.

How to enter

Each student should write an essay explaining in less than 500 words what the Consumer Bill of Rights means to them. Entries may be typed or handwritten, but a hard copy of the entry should be mailed to the Department of Consumer Affairs.

Winners receive

The top winners will be recognized in a public ceremony and will receive a $100 United States Savings Bond made possible through a donation from the South Carolina Bankers Association.
